Comfort Tips

Avoid Using Duct Tape And Ace Bandages
They can cut into skin, restrict breathing, and damage or even break ribs.

Kt (Kinesiology) Tape
This tape can be used to bind the chest but do not wrap it all the way around the body.

Give Your Body a Break
Binding while you sleep can further crush chest tissue and restrict breathing. Try to only wear it 8–12 hours at a time.

Make The Most of Your Break
Be sure to practice breathing exercises and stretch your arms and chest when not bond.

Smaller Isn’t Better
Binders are already designed to be tight. Getting one even smaller causes injury and discomfort.

Air It Out
Sweating under binders can lead to rashes, sores and chafing. Try wearing a thin undershirt or non-irritating body powder (like Gold Bond) underneath it.

Regularly Wash and Air-Dry Binders
This will help prevent irritation.

Lay it Flat
If your binder rolls up around the waist, try sewing a piece of fabric along the bottom that you can tuck into your pants.

HOTT (Health Outreach to Teens) is a welcoming, non-judgmental, confidential program designed specifically to meet the health & wellness needs of LGBTQ young adults aged 13-24. HOTT provides services to insured & uninsured youth regardless of ability to pay.

At 18th St location only and on a mobile medical unit that travels to sites throughout NYC. For more information, visit callen-lorde.org/HOTT.

Methods

Layering Shirts
Wear a tight-fitting shirt as a base layer. Each shirt should get looser as you layer. Button-up shirts work well as a final step to hide your chest. Layering shirts can be less restrictive, however, more clothing can become hot. Try moisture-wicking fabric for sweating.

Sports Bra
You can wear a sports bra under one shirt, or layer shirts on top of sports bras. There are many types of sports bras. Ones with higher Lycra content compress better. Try them on at a sporting goods store if possible. Average price: $25–$50.

Athletic Compression Shirt
Athletes wear these to aid in muscle recovery. They’re usually made from Spandex or Lycra, and are designed to absorb sweat away from your body. They typically work better for folks with less chest tissue. Companies like Underarmour and Sweat It Out sell them. Those with larger chests might want to try a medical compression shirt or binder. Average price: $20–$50.

Binder / Medical Compression Shirt
Binders offer even more compression than the above methods. Many are designed for people recovering from breast tissue surgery, but today there are companies who design specifically for transmasculine/non-binary folks. Some companies who sell them are Underworks, The Tool Shed, Moms Designs, Nouvelle, T.Kingdom of Taiwan, The Double T, Esha, and Danae. Prices range from $30– $100+ but if you can’t afford that, consider applying to a used binder program (listed in this pamphlet) for reduced prices or free!

Fitting

Chest Size
Measure the fullest area of your chest.

Binder Size
Look up the “sizing chart” of the company you’re buying from. If you fall between sizes, most people are more comfortable going a size up.
